

PRESS RELEASE

Successful collaboration between I-SEC International Security B.V. and ForcePro B.V.

Alphen, December 2020 - I-SEC International Security B.V., which specializes in the provision of advanced aviation security services worldwide, has entered a partnership with ForcePro B.V., the company that is the winner of the European tender Skyfall for anti-drone systems. This partnership aims to meet the increasing demand of anti-drone systems in the commercial market, which until now was only available to the government.

I-SEC International Security B.V. provides services for airlines and airports worldwide. These include physical security controls, handling services, security training, consulting services, security technology and from now on also drone detection and defence solutions. ForcePro B.V. is hereby the importer of DroneShield for the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain and Greece. DroneShield is an Australian listed company that offers customized and/or ready-made products to protect (groups of) people, critical infrastructures, and essential assets.

In this way, I-SEC International Security B.V. and ForcePro B.V. provide a complete package of innovative services and technological solutions that turn any environment into a secure one.

About I-SEC International Security B.V.

The I-SEC Group specializes in providing aviation security services worldwide and is headquartered in Amsterdam (NL). Besides the deployment of aviation security employees, I-SEC offers security technology and standardized and customized training for security personnel and management. I-SEC currently employs more than 5,000 employees at various international airports in Europe and Asia.

With its highly qualified and experienced professional staff supported by proprietary technological innovations, I-SEC is ideally positioned to provide cost-effective aviation security solutions and services to airlines and airports with diverse operational volumes and needs.

Since 2005, new I-SEC subsidiaries have been established in numerous European countries to efficiently deliver local aviation security services.

About ForcePro B.V.

ForcePro B.V. is a Dutch company specialized in the field of personal protection and safety. Its aim is to support professionals with the highest possible quality. ForcePro's vision is the protection of the human being and the body the most important and will always be a pillar in the way of thinking, developing, and doing business. This results in a wide range of specialized, tactical products for Police, Military, Special Forces, Security, Response Teams, Ambulance, and other rescue workers.

ForcePro B.V. only supplies high quality products that meet the highest EU norms and standards. This is made possible by our own development and innovation, and by an exclusive dealership for several top brands with EU origin.

All these tactical devices and materials are developed and tested by and in collaboration with experienced field experts before being marketed. As a result, we select only the best materials and fabrics for our products.

Note to editors, not intended for publication:

More information available via:

I-SEC International Security B.V.

Contact : Mart Vergouwen / Eelco Hottenga
Email : Info@I-SEC.com
Special-Operations@I-SEC.com
Website : www.I-SEC.com
Telephone : +31 - 20 71 589 00

ForcePro B.V.

Contact : Theo Karafantis
Email : Theo@forcepro.nl
Website : www.forcepro.nl
Telephone : +31 - 85 30 131 50